38% y-y growth on E-bus & battery

Net profit from E-bus and battery sales 4x net profit from EV cars

Today, EA's share price plunged by over 5% on investors' concerns over the potential net profit (NP) downsides from the delay of the 4,500-EV car delivery from 2Q21 to 4Q21, due to the impact of the second wave of COVID-19. However, we think the NP growth from the upcoming CODs of EA's two major plants – the 1GWh battery plant and the E-bus production plant – should remain on track, providing up to THB1.2b-1.5b NP vs the THB0.4b NP downside from the delay of the 4,500 EV cars.

Highly visible 38-48% y-y net profit growth in 2021

We think EA's NP will rise by THB2.2b-2.5b y-y to THB7.4b-7.7b (excl. EV earnings) in 2021, despite the delay of the 4,500-unit EV delivery from 2021 to 2022, in the worst case. We see the key drivers as 1) THB0.8b NP from wind farms as a result of the y-y higher wind speeds; 2) THB0.7b NP from the sale of 1,000 E-buses based on a THB3m-4m selling price and a 10% net margin; 3) THB0.4b-0.7b from the sales of 0.8GWh-worth of batteries; 4) THB0.2b NP from phase change material (PCM) sales from EA's 65 tonne per day PCM plant, COD since 2H20; and 5) THB0.1b from EA's 1m litre per day capacity biodiesel plant.

Competitive edge for E-buses and battery plant

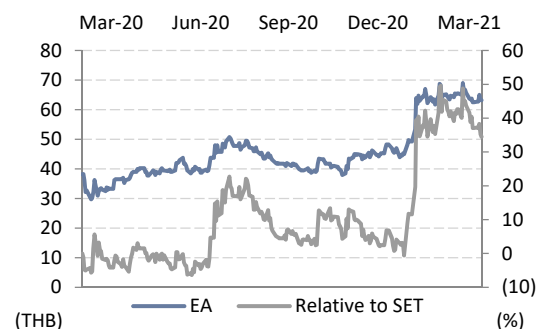

Of EA's five new S-curve ventures (EV cars, E-buses, E-ferries, 1GWh battery plant phase 1, and charging stations), we think the E-buses and battery production plant are the two major catalysts that should secure NP growth for EA starting in 2021 onward. These two ventures have a low demand risk (captive battery demand from E-buses and E-ferries for the battery plant) and a strong competitive edge for the production of E-buses and batteries, given the 20% import duty on batteries and the minimum local content requirement for EVs to be marketed in Thailand. This should allow EA to secure at least 1,000 E-bus orders in 2021, of which 400 have already been secured YTD, and position EA well for the 4,000 E-bus order from the Bangkok Mass Transit Authority.

Share price weakness offers great buying opportunity

We maintain BUY and our SoTP-based TP of THB76. We think EA's NP growth is not only highly visible but will grow significantly by at least 38-48%, even without the EV car delivery in 2021. We believe its share price outperformance should begin once it starts to deliver its E-buses and batteries produced from its 1GWh phase 1 plant.

RECOMMENDATION STRUCTURE

Stock ratings

Stock ratings are based on absolute upside or downside, which we define as $(\text{target price}^* - \text{current price}) / \text{current price}$.

BUY (B). The upside is 10% or more.

HOLD (H). The upside or downside is less than 10%.

REDUCE (R). The downside is 10% or more.

Unless otherwise specified, these recommendations are set with a 12-month horizon. Thus, it is possible that future price volatility may cause a temporary mismatch between upside/downside for a stock based on market price and the formal recommendation.

* In most cases, the target price will equal the analyst's assessment of the current fair value of the stock. However, if the analyst doesn't think the market will reassess the stock over the specified time horizon due to a lack of events or catalysts, then the target price may differ from fair value. In most cases, therefore, our recommendation is an assessment of the mismatch between current market price and our assessment of current fair value.
